

April 2022 GGM NEWSLETTER

The world is coming out of the COVID fog, and people are beginning to return to normal rhythms of life. In the first three months of the year, our leaders have covered a lot of ground-sharing the Gospel in LA, California, Florida, North Carolina, South Carolina, and New Jersey. We have engaged many with the Gospel of Jesus Christ, from Jehovah Witnesses to Muslims and everything in between.

Thank you for your faithfulness in supporting and praying for the leaders here at GGM. Many are being changed by the Gospel message. In this Newsletter, you will get a harvest field report, a brief update from our founder's dinner, time in Washington, D.C., Los Angeles C.A., and you will meet our new leader Joe Toy.

This year, our founder's dinner was a great night of encouragement, and I had the opportunity to share our ten-year vision as a ministry. Learn more about our ten-year vision. We have a matching grant this year of $4,500. If you have never given, now is a great time to give. It will match up to $400 for new givers. For last year's givers, it will cover anything you give above the previous year's donation amount up to $400.

Our Time In Washington DC

One of our leaders saw that a rally would be hosted in Washington, D.C., dealing with dropping the vaccine mandates. We decided to head up and share the glorious Gospel with the attendees. Right out of the gate, the Gospel message encountered stiff resistance from atheists. They began chanting and screaming. An atheistic group came up and tried to interview me; however, they did not stay around long. When I started answering from the scriptures and lovingly exposing the reality of their worldview, they moved on to find someone else.

We had several terrific conversations. Zack had a Christian thank him for sharing the Gospel. The young man knew how to share his faith in Jesus with others. This was encouraging for our group. I talked at length with a lady that studied Buddhism in Asia. We were able to listen to each other, and she allowed me to show how absolute truth must exist for life to have meaning and purpose. She told me that she had never read the Bible and was feeling drawn to read it. I ran over and grabbed one from my backpack to give to her.

Our Time In Los Angeles CA

A team of around 75 evangelists with SFOI- three leaders from GGM joined them- went to Los Angeles to share the Gospel at the Super Bowl LVI. We encountered many unbelievers from many different belief backgrounds.

I spent twenty-five minutes talking with three Muslims. I was able to listen to what they thought Christians believed, and afterward, I was able to take them to Colossians to explain the truth it reveals. They stated that we believe in the same God; however, I exposed the differences between the two.

What Our New Website Has To Offer

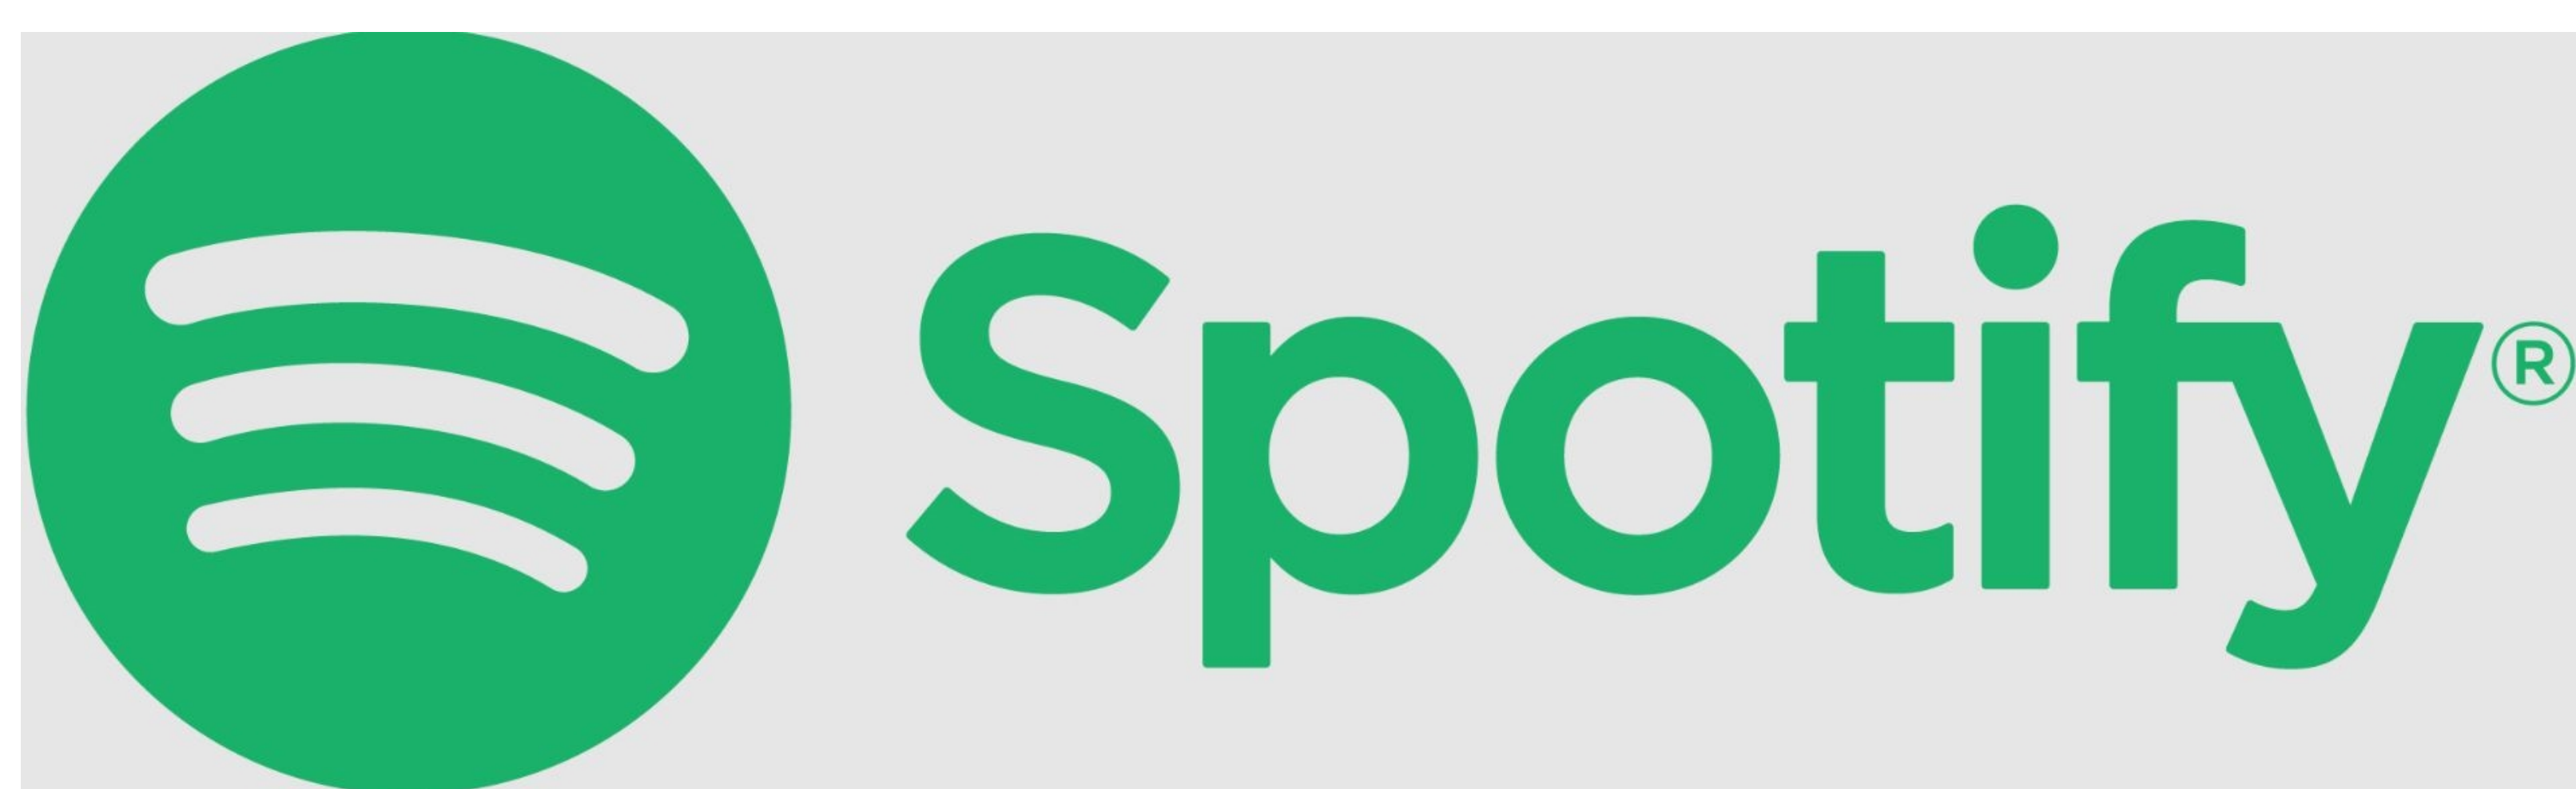

The new Website will be more user-friendly than ever before. You will now have archived access to all our articles and audio going back to 2010. The Website is designed for two people those who are new and those who are current champions.

The new people will be exposed to our mission, vision, the Gospel, and values. Our shape, share, and support model carries out our vision. It is made clear on the landing page that we wanted this site to communicate what we offer in an easy and profoundly simplistic way.

Our champions will now have their archive portal that will give them access to extended champion content geared toward helping them share their faith with unbelievers in their life. It will consist of extended podcasts, YouTube videos, and articles. We hope both people can benefit from what the Lord has given us to steward.
